No White House Reply To Question of Goldfine Coat

WASHINGTON (AP)—The White House said today President Eisenhower has no intention of firing Sherman Adams, his chief aide who is a target of House investigators.

At the same time, press secretary James C. Hagerty said there will be no White House reply to an earlier question by a reporter as to whether Adams' good friend, industrialist Bernard Goldfine, once gave Adams a $700 coat.

Lt. Vrana Dies From Injuries In Accident

SPOKANE, Wash. (AP) — Lt. Thomas Vrana, 23, the public relations officer who was run over by a 24-ton bulldozer while taking pictures of the ground-breaking ceremonies at Fairchild Air Force Base, died in a hospital Thursday night.

The young lieutenant from Pittsburgh, Pa., was mangled when the machine, operated by the base commander, Col. Willard B. Atwell, pinned him to the ground after he slipped during ceremonies marking the start of a base housing project Wednesday.

Vrana had jumped up on the front of the bulldozer to take a picture of the colonel and slipped when the machine started to move. The regular operator leaped up and eased the machine off the officer's body.

Vrana suffered compound fractures of both legs, internal injuries and deep shock. His head and the rest of his body fell between the tracks of the machine.

Dozens of officers and enlisted men lined up to donate blood. So did the grief-stricken Col. Atwell, the popular commanding officer.

Vrana remained conscious and talked with hospital attendants almost up to the last.

His wife, Mazie Ann, and his mother, Mrs. Alfred Vrana, who had flown here from Pittsburgh were at the hospital.

The ground-breaking ceremonies were canceled.

Vrana's camera was smashed. The only pictures of the day were taken by other photographers. One of them, television cameraman Duane Bock, recorded the accident on movie film and a dramatic sequence of it was carried by the Associated Press Wirephoto.

Vrana and his wife had no children.

Increased Water Minimum Added To Monthly Bills

Increased Water Minimum Added To Monthly Bills

The additional 30 cents on Sedalia residents' monthly water bills is not an increase in water rates, but an increase in the minimum, or meter, charge, according to Sedalia Water Co. officials.

I. H. Reed, manager of the Sedalia Water Co., told The Democrat-Capital this week that the minimum has been increased to take care of the administrative load connected with billing individual water users.

"Even with the new $1 minimum," Reed said, "Sedalia still has the lowest rates in the state."

He explained that many users, particularly during winter months, did not use over the minimum, and therefore their bill was only 70 cents, the old minimum, and that this was not sufficient to cover the cost of reading the meter, billing the customer and keeping records.

With the new $1 minimum, he said, the company will just about break even.

He further explained that the minimum increase would affect all users, including those who used over the minimum, because the $1 is added to the bill after the charge for the actual amount of water used is computed.

Service Commission OKs MoPac Closing Its Nelson Station

JEFFERSON CITY (AP)—The State Public Service Commission today allowed the Frisco railroad to close its station in Fremont, Mo., and the Missouri Pacific Railroad to close its station in Nelson, Mo., for 10 months in the year.

The commission noted that rail service to Fremont, in Shannon County, is on a tri-weekly basis and most of the freight is out-bound on a collect basis.

In Nelson, most of the freight is also out-bound and the bulk of that is grain, shipped at harvest time. For that reason, the commission said, Missouri Pacific must maintain an agent during July and August. Nelson is near Marshall.

FOUND — Dr. Joseph Uttal, who was employed as a physician at a New York City jail as Dr. George Wolf, has been found by authorities. He is a psychiatrist who practiced under an assumed name to hide his former status as a mental patient. He disappeared from his home in New York Thursday after reporting he had been hired as senior psychiatrist at the Missouri State Hospital No. 1 at Fulton, Mo. (NEA Telephoto)

Says Publicity In Fulton Ended His Psychiatric Career

NEW YORK (AP)—The psychiatrist who was formerly a mental patient bobbed up around town yesterday, ordering a foreign car with no money in his pocket and announcing plans to become a shoe salesman.

Dr. Joseph Uttal, 56, who used the name George Wolf to conceal his past and get a city job examining unbalanced jail inmates, shaved off his mustache and took a room in a West 45th Street hotel.

Located there, he laughed at reports he had disappeared from his Yonkers home and said publicity about his double names and mental record had ruined his chances of getting psychiatric jobs. He said, therefore, he had decided to give up his profession and become a shoe salesman.

"I can sell Palm Beach suits to Eskimos," he asserted. "So I'll make $20,000 a year as a salesman instead of $10,000 as a doctor."

He spent a half-hour in an upper Broadway showroom, weighing the merits of various cars before settling on a Czech-built $1,696 Skoda. He signed the car order and impressed it also with a pocket seal giving his name, address and telephone number.

Asked for a deposit, he replied, "My lawyer has all my money," and left.

Dr. Uttal in talking to newsmen said unfavorable publicity had cost him a $10,000 a year job with a Manhattan medical group and a job with a Missouri state hospital at Fulton.

Not So Sure

PEORIA, Ill. (AP) — Robert Livingston, 26, noticed Thursday night that the man attempting to rob his service station was pretty nervous.

"Are you sure you want to go through with this?" Livingston asked the gun wielder.

"I don't think so," the man moaned, and left without the money.

Valedictorian Shoots Sleeping Father Thursday

MOKANE, Mo. (AP) — A 17-year-old high school valedictorian, voted the most popular girl in her graduating class last semester, told authorities today she shot her father to death as he lay in bed sleeping last night.

Coroner Harry Stewart said Jo Ann Taylor, who will be 18 next month, admitted shooting her father, Joseph M. Taylor, 42, four times with his .32-caliber revolver.

Stewart quoted her as saying Taylor, a part-time farmer and construction worker, had been coming home nights drunk and beating her mother.

Mrs. Taylor told Stewart she hid in a closet when her husband called for her last night, then ran out into the yard with another daughter, Jessie Lee, 19. They heard the shooting out there. Five smaller children were not awakened.

Three bullets struck Taylor in the chest and one in the temple, the coroner said.

Miss Taylor has been charged with second degree murder in Magistrate Court and her preliminary hearing set for June 26. She posted $5,000 bond.

An inquest has been set for next Tuesday in the Callaway County Courthouse in Fulton, Mo.

Miss Taylor, a pretty brunette, was elected homecoming queen, played on the girls baseball and softball teams and maintained an A-minus average during her senior year at Mokane High School.

The family lives in a modest home near town.

Mining Laws Outdated

Special Committee Chairman Declares They Are Obsolete, Need Modernizing

BONNE TERRE, Mo. (AP) —The chairman of a special legislative committee says the committee is in agreement that the state's pick-and-shovel mining laws are completely out of date and must be modernized.

Sen. Jack C. Jones (D-Carrollton), who heads the House-Senate Committee on Industrial Development, made the statement last night at the close of a hearing.

Operators of multi-million-dollar Missouri mining projects asked the committee to revise the entire mining code because of new problems brought about by the operations of deeper mines.

Today the committee and officials of the St. Joseph Lead Co., plan to take an underground trip on a mine railroad from Flat River through the firm's huge underground workings to Leadwood, a 10-mile trip.

Elmer A. Jones, general manager for St. Joseph, told of problems the old law creates for the new 30-million-dollar deep iron ore development at Pea Ridge near Sullivan, Mo., a joint venture with Bethlehem Steel Co., and another new 15-million-dollar lead mining development in the lead belt.

E. L. Billheimer of Sullivan, manager of the Pea Ridge project, testified that under present law only 12 miners can be lowered on a single cage and the speed of the cage is limited to 500 feet a minute.

He said about 300 men will be used on one shift when the mine gets into production and at this rate it would take more than 24 hours a day to raise and lower one shift.

Billheimer said the company has a 50-man cage which can be safely lowered at a rate of 1,200 feet a minute.

James L. MacGregor of St. Joseph said the old law limiting the explosives that can be stored underground to a 24-hour supply actually is more hazardous than storing a week's supply.

The firm's attorney, W. Oliver Rasch, gave the committee a series of recommendations for changes which he said would make the laws flexible enough to handle a multitude of modern operations.

Floyd Henson, director of the State Division of Mine Inspection, testified that the entire mining code is completely out of date and in need of revision.

Springfield Firemen Have a New Chore

SPRINGFIELD, MO., (AP) — City firemen have a new chore — watering the flowers in the concrete boxes at the four corners of Springfield's public square.

The Garden Club installed the boxes last week. City Manager Bart Avery assigned the watering job to the men at the nearby firehouse on College Avenue.

Fire Chief Ray Fraker said his men took quite a bit of kidding when they first performed their new task late Thursday afternoon. It's no burden, he said, because the men are on duty anyway and it gives them something to do.

Would Avert Collisions

Ike Asks Setting Up New Aviation Agency

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower today asked Congress to create a new federal aviation agency in an effort to avert air collisions in this jet age.

The Senate already is holding hearings on a bill by Sen. A. S. Mike Monroney (D-Okl.) with the same general objectives. That proposal calls for unifying all air traffic control, both civil and military.

The White House announcement did not mention that measure. Eisenhower, in a special message, proposed that the existing Civil Aeronautics Administration be abolished and that its functions be absorbed by the new agency.

"Recent midair collisions of aircraft, occasioning tragic losses of human life, have emphasized the need for a system of air traffic management which will prevent, within the limits of human ingenuity, a recurrence of such accidents," Eisenhower said.

The President recommended that the proposed new agency "be given full and paramount authority over the use by aircraft of air space over the United States and its territories, except in circumstances of military emergency or urgent military necessity."

Eisenhower asked for enactment of legislation at this session and at the earliest practicable date.

He proposed that the new federal aviation agency be headed by an administrator assisted by a deputy. Both officials would be appointed by the President, subject to confirmation by the Senate.

Eisenhower said he had intended to wait until early next year to recommend creation of a new agency.

But he added that a recent air collision in Maryland, taking a dozen lives, has made the need for action urgent.

Eisenhower also recalled what he termed the nation's shock over "the most costly civil air disaster in history." He referred to the collision of two commercial airliners over the Grand Canyon June 30, 1956. That crash took 128 lives.

The airman's mother, Mrs. Annabell Keeton, said in Dallas her son had lost weight "because of worry over a love affair."

British Troops Patrol Nicosia

Britain Orders Paratroopers To Mediterranean Colony

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP)—Only British troops walked the streets of Nicosia today as authorities clamped on the first 100 per cent curfew in an effort to end communal fighting.

Britain also ordered paratroopers to the mediterranean colony to strengthen her troops trying to end continuing clashes between Greek and Turkish Cypriots. Eleven Cypriots have been killed since Saturday.

Since the outbreak of communal rioting, the Greek and Turkish communities had been allowed out of doors separately for several hours to get food and other essentials. Today even that was prohibited and such pass holders as doctors, civil servants and reporters were included in the prohibition.

British plans for the future of Cyprus—to be announced Tuesday—are expected to intensify the violence by failing fully to satisfy either the 400,000 Cypriots of Greek descent or the 100,000 Turks.

The Greeks want the island annexed to Greece. The Turks want Cyprus partitioned if the British leave.

The situation approached civil war yesterday with the bloodiest battle yet. A gang of 300 Greek Cypriots tried to raid a Turkish village near Nicosia and was met with gunfire. Three Greeks were killed and nine wounded.

British troops headed off part of the Greek mob, arresting 30 and disarming the rest, but one group set fire to crops and was attacked by hidden Turks. Seventeen Turks were arrested.

In another clash, club-swinging British troops broke up a Turkish mob trying to storm a Nicosia police station. Authorities clamped an earlier curfew on the Turkish section of town.

Off and on for several years Greek Cypriots have attacked British troops in a terror campaign for independence and a chance to join Greece. Now the British find themselves in the middle as the Turks strike at their Greek neighbors in opposition to the campaign.

The War Office in London said the situation on Cyprus is deteriorating and more troops are needed to bolster the British forces that make this an East Mediterranean stronghold. About 500 paratroopers are expected to be flown here tomorrow. Other troops in England have been alerted.

The new fine arts building at Lincoln University also received a lot of water and firemen were busy pumping it out.

The two-hour storm, which brought traffic to a standstill for a part of the time, was accompanied by high winds and darkened skies. There were no tornado warnings, however.

Regular and auxiliary police and firemen evacuated several families in some of the lower spots of the city where Weir's Creek rampaged.

Lebanese Vow To Fight On At Camille

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)—Lebanese rebel leaders vow they will fight on against pro-Western President Camille Chamoun despite the intervention of the U.N. Security Council.

The vanguard of a U. N. observation group made plans today to carry out a Security Council directive to watch for the arms and men the Lebanese government accuses President Nasser's United Arab Republic of sending from the neighboring Syrian province to help the rebels.

After a lengthy meeting last night, rebel leaders said if the council really wants to end the five-week crisis it should bar arms from the government from the United States, Britain, France, Turkey, Iraq and Jordan.

"It is these arms which constituted the primary cause of the tragic turn of events in Lebanon," a rebel statement said.

The United States and Britain have made no secret of their arms shipments to the Lebanese government, a legal regime and an ally. But there has been no evidence of shipments from the other nations the rebels named, and the idea appeared to be to incite pro-Nasser elements against favorite targets of U. A. R. propaganda.

The rebel statement said attempts to cut off arms supplies from Syria "will not affect our movement or deflect it from its declared objective" of overthrowing Chamoun. The U. A. R. has denied aiding the rebels.

The Syrian border is 150 mountainous miles, and military men estimate that at least 5,000 men with reconnaissance planes would be needed to close the border to infiltrators. But the Council's hope was that the presence of its representatives would deter help to the rebels from the U. A. R. government.

A leading Beirut newspaper, O'orient, said the U. N. observers "would probably suffice to stop active intervention." Government officials have hinted that once this was halted the Lebanese army—which so far has not gone all-out against the rebels—would take stronger measures.

Blair Appoints Paulus Head of Construction

JEFFERSON CITY (AP)—Gov. James T. Blair today appointed John D. Paulus of Jefferson City as chief of planning and construction—a new office to control construction and major repairs at all state institutions.

Paulus, 48, has been a public employee for 22 years, the past 10 in the Division of Health where most recently he has been director of the Bureau of Hospital Facilities. In that job he has been directing the allotment of federal aid for construction of additional hospital facilities in Missouri under the so-called Hill-Burton Act. In his new position he will get $12,000 a year. His immediate superior will be the state comptroller and with the comptroller he will set up a priority system for major construction projects at state hospitals, colleges, universities, penal institutions and so on. The bill setting up the new position was a recommendation of the "Little Hoover" Commission. Blair supported it strongly as a departure from the old appropriations system whereby the state agency with the best legislative contacts frequently got the most money for new buildings.

Tornadoes Scare State Area; No Damage Reports

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Another outbreak of tornadoes threw a scare into a wide area of eastern Kansas and Western Missouri last night—but that's all it amounted to.

Twisters were sighted in the air or on the ground at and near Topeka, between Salina and Abilene, east of Rocky Ford and near Manhattan in Kansas. In Missouri early today, there were unconfirmed reports of tornado funnels west of Center and 15 miles west of Trenton.

There were no damage reports from the tornadoes.

Topeka got the biggest fright when a tornado roared toward the Kansas capital, only to soar into the air and skip over the city. Sirens sounded at 4:55 p. m. as the weather bureau reported a tornado five miles to the southwest of Topeka.

Residents scurried for basements and any other shelter they could find as the twister advanced. The tornado passed over Topeka at 5:20 p. m., causing no damage.

Kansas and western Missouri, to a lesser extent, have been plagued by violent weather since Tuesday, when a tornado shattered 259 homes in El Dorado, Kan., killing 13 persons. Late Wednesday night, a storm damaged an area of Wichita but caused no fatalities.

Barnes, superintendent at Normandy; Mrs. Henry Carr of Springfield, vice president of the Missouri Congress of Parents and Teachers; and Hugh K. Earl Edward Renno, 15, was killed instantly in a tractor accident occurring on a road three miles southwest of Concordia about 7:30 p. m. Wednesday, June 11. Earl was reportedly driving a tractor down a hill when he hit some loose gravel. This caused the tractor to wheel around and he was thrown from the machine, hitting his head very severely. The boy suffered multiple skull fractures.

Earl was born Aug. 10, 1942, at Concordia. He was a member of the Concordia Baptist Church and attended the public school. He had just finished his sophomore year in high school.

Dalton Adds Opinion To Juvenile Code

JEFFERSON CITY (AP)—Atty. Gen. John M. Dalton today added another opinion to the growing stack of legal interpretation of Missouri's controversial juvenile code.

The code has been under fire from many quarters since it became effective last Aug. 29.

This time, C. M. Hulen Jr. of Moberly, prosecuting attorney for Randolph County, asked if prosecution could be had against a person who is not a judicial officer or a peace officer, if that person should disclose details about a juvenile violation.

Asst. Atty. Gen. Hugh P. Williamson said there was nothing in the code to make it a violation for an individual to disclose such information if he did not get the information from the court or police records.

"To hold otherwise would lead to ridiculous results," Williamson wrote.

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Suits asking $1,400,000 damages were filed in U. S. District Court yesterday against the Kansas City Star Co. by owners of four weekly publications.

The suits are patterned after a number of others filed under the Sherman Anti-trust Act. They are based on the conviction of the Star in 1955 on charges monopolizing and trying to monopolize dissemination of news and advertising.

Accidents

A two-car collision occurred at 2:50 p.m. Thursday at the 200 block on West Fourth. There were no injuries.

Involved in the accident was a 1954 Mercury driven west on Fourth by Bobby Lee Oehrke, 1720 South Prospect, and a 1958 Chevrolet that had been left parked on West Fourth by Cecil Richard Kelley, 207 Driftwood Drive.

The front bumper of the Mercury was damaged and the right back of the Chevrolet received damage.

Damage resulted to a 1957 International dump truck of the Missouri State Highway Department, which was struck on State Highway 127, two miles south of the 16th Street road. No injuries were involved in the accident. The accident occurred Thursday.

According to a report given Trooper Robert Stockdell of the State Highway Patrol, a 1956 Ford three-ton truck owned by the Howard Construction Co., and driven by Paul Ernest Vannoy, Green Ridge, backed into the Highway truck.

The Highway truck, driven by Melvin R. Dinkley, 1801 South Summit, was parked alongside the highway and Dinkley was assisting in the directing of winnowing gravel to be placed on the road. Damage to the truck was estimated in the neighborhood of $100. The right front fender was smashed, and the heavy bumper bent back against the tire on the truck. Highway 127 is in the process of being sealedcoated by the Howard Construction Co.

Two cars were damaged in a rear-end collision on Highway 50, in the Muddy Creek Flats, about 8:40 a.m. Friday. No injuries were reported. Involved was a 1958 Chevrolet sedan, driven by Mrs. Ruth Agnes Brown, 66, Higginsville, Mo., headed east, and a 1958 Ford two-ton truck of the Howard Construction Co. and driven by Earl Edward Williams, 36, of Green Ridge.

Mrs. Brown reported she slowed down because of a house trailer ahead of her and was struck from the rear by the truck. Williams reported to Trooper Robert Stockdell that the car ahead of him slowed but he could not stop. The rear end of the Chevrolet was extensively damaged and the right front of the truck damaged.

Damage resulted to two automobiles in collision in front of 225 South Kentucky about 11 a.m. Friday. No injuries were reported.

A 1958 Oldsmobile sedan, was being driven from the Routsong lot onto Kentucky by Virgil Bryan, 712 West Fifth, and was making a turn to the north, and a 1956 Ford half-ton truck, driven by Merle Lloyd Meryk, Smithton, which had stopped in a traffic lane, collided.

The left front fender, left front headlight, chrome and the left front door on the Oldsmobile were damaged and the right taillight, right rear fender and the tail gate on the truck were damaged.

Two cars were in an accident at Second and Osage at 11:40 a.m. Friday, doing damage to both vehicles. No injuries were involved.

A 1958 Cadillac sedan was being driven by Mrs. Juliet Lay Van Dyke, of Marshall, and going west on Second Street, a one-way street east, and collided with a 1953 Buick sedan of Dr. E. O. Hudson, 800 West Fourth, which was parked in front of his office in the 100 block on West Second, on the north side of the street. The right front door, back right door and the right front fender were dented on the Cadillac, and the chrome strip on the right side, on the side were damaged. ## Pay Raises To Workers In Civil Service

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate passed today a compromise bill giving a 10 per cent pay boost to the government's 1,021,000 civil service and other employees.

Action came by voice vote adoption of a report agreed upon Thursday adjusting Senate and House differences over the legislation.

With the House in recess until Monday, final congressional action was put off until next week.

The bill's annual cost is about 542 million dollars. But the first-year cost will be closer to 800 million dollars since the boost is retroactive to Jan. 1.

Sen. Olin D. Johnston (D-S.C.) said the bill will give all employees equal treatment. Sen. Ralph Yarborough (D-Tex.) said the pay increase was modest compared to those given workers in private industry.

But Sen. Harry F. Byrd (D-Va.) said it was "very bad policy" to grant retroactive pay increases. And Sen. Frank Lausche (D-Ohio) said Congress was contributing to inflation and setting a pay raise example for private industry. Sens. Carl T. Curtis (R-Neb.) and John J. Williams (R-Del.) joined Lausche and Byrd in opposing the measure.

The bill covers not only regular classified civil service employees, but also employees of Congress, federal courts, foreign service, Atomic Energy Commission, and Veterans Administration medical service. Postal workers previously were given a 10 per cent raise. The bill permits creation of 599 new super-grade jobs. These pay from $13,000 to $19,000.

It also gives the full 10 per cent raise to 67,000 scientists and engineers who had recently received raises because they were in hard-to-hire categories.

Woman Points With Pride To Family of 45

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—A woman who has reared 45 boys recalls with pride that none has ever left the family down.

Mrs. Alyce MacDonald, 50, said her code to prevent juvenile delinquency is: "Be very strict, very severe—no cars until 18, no running the streets—but lots of love and understanding."

"And if the boys have a question, you have to answer it now, not put them off until later. This is true, regardless of what the problem is," she says. Mrs. MacDonald goes to Camp Pendleton today to visit three of the boys who are Marines. She has reared most of the 45 with her husband at their rural home in Paradise, Calif. Three were natural sons, the rest foster sons.

Twenty-five of the boys have gone into the Marine Corps, Navy, Army or Air Force. One rose to the rank of major. The eldest natural son, Marine Cpl. James H. MacDonald, was killed in action in Korea.

One is a minister. The father of the clan, Edward MacDonald, 53, has worked for the Diamond Match Co. in Chico for years.

"After that," Mrs. MacDonald said "our home just seemed to become a haven for boys."

Mayor Tells Sedalia Jaycees About 60-Cent Law on Streets

Mayor Abe Silverman addressed the Sedalia Jaycees Thursday night and said that it is still not his intention of forcing down the throats of the public the 60-cent law on repairing city streets but that the Council's proposed adoption of the law seems the best way to handle what he termed an emergency.

The mayor said that the 35 miles of streets listed in the proposed ordinance as needing repair were selected because they were the most heavily traveled and best connected of those being in need of resurfacing. Silverman said that there probably were twice as many streets needing such work but that only this much could be handled this summer.

He said that present plans are for the city to come back to the residents along those 35 miles next year and attempt to sell them on the wisdom of having permanent streets built. Under the 60-cent law, the city intends to build only a temporary type of street consisting of pea gravel spread over oil after the old surface has been scarified and rolled. He said this would last perhaps two years, depending on wear and weather.

Asked whether, if the residents did not choose later to install permanent streets, the city would go back repeatedly and invoke the 60-cent law to keep the streets in repair, Mayor Silverman said that it was his thinking that this would not be done, since it is not his intention to force anything upon the public.

The mayor also said, and this was later confirmed by Acting City Engineer Pat Bernard, that it is conceivable that within those 35 miles of streets listed in the ordinance, there might be a block here and there that did not need repair because it is already in excellent shape in the opinion of the engineer. Bernard said Friday morning, however, that while he could advise that such a block be left untouched, it would take Council action to permit the exception.

One of the Jaycee members said in the open discussion that followed the mayor's talk. "I don't think the street in front of my house needs repair. What can I do about it?"

"Come on down to the Council meeting Monday night and raise hell," the mayor replied.

Silverman said that if enough remonstrances were received from residents along any one block, it was his intent and that of the Council to cancel work on that block, although state law actually granted the city the right to go ahead regardless of protest.

Really Used Bathing Suit Miss Missouri of 1955 Has Won Many Swimming Medals

EDITOR'S NOTE: A new Miss Missouri, candidate for Miss America honors, will be chosen in St. Louis June 28. What happened to girls who have won this title in the past? This is the second of a series of articles on that subject.

By JIM HARDIN and JIM DOUSSARD
Jefferson City Post-Tribune

ST. LOUIS (AP)—That rarity of rarities, a bathing beauty who can swim, was Miss Missouri in 1955.

Sharon Knickmeyer, now 23 and a marketing major at St. Louis University, has 27 swimming race medals, six synchronized swimming awards and her present scholarship to prove that she doesn't just don a bathing suit to show how well it is filled by her 5-foot-2 figure.

The trophy case at the Knickmeyer home in suburban St. Louis is sagging with trophies and medals. In addition to Sharon's, there are four which her brother has copped at golf and one empty spot. The latter is a family joke.

It seems that her dad—Willard Knickmeyer, years ago won a golf tournament but, being a practical man, accepted 10 golf balls instead of a trophy. The balls are long gone but the family leaves a vacant spot on the shelf to mark the non-existent trophy.

Sharon, a green-eyed blonde credits the togetherness that characterizes the Knickmeyer family to their love of sports. All members are keenly interested and mom is the only spectator.

"My folks were a great help while I was in the title competition," Sharon said. Explaining, she said that without their understanding, guidance and help she could not have made it that year with the full college load she was carrying, her work as a life guard, swimming in Ozark AAU meets and competing in the Miss Missouri contest.

Sharon was attending Fontbonne College here when she won the 1955 contest. The victory brought her a $1,000 talent scholarship with which she entered St. Louis University.

When she graduates she plans to enter public relations work.

Socially Sharon is playing a wide field. She made many new and interesting acquaintances around the state after winning the title.

"The year of the title was a wonderful experience," she said. "Competition helps a lot to develop the poise and personality one needs to get along in the world."

Sharon began swimming at the age of seven in the Downtown "Y" here and has been at it ever since. She has been asked to swim at this year's Miss Missouri pageant in St. Louis. Whether she will accept depends on whether she can work up a suitable routine in time.

Criticizes Charges Against Tex Varner

OSAGE BEACH, Mo. (AP)—Victor I. (Tex) Varner's lawyer yesterday criticized the filing of an habitual criminal charge against Varner.

The riding stable operator was acquitted in April of killing a business rival, Eddie Boyesen, last summer. He is to be tried June 23 on a charge of slaying Larry Dale Irwin, 15, Boyesen's employee.

The charge recently was amended to include the habitual count on grounds Varner was convicted of larceny in Chicago in 1931 and served a six-year reformatory sentence.

Will F. Berry Jr., of Versailles, Mo., defense counsel, issued this statement:

"We consider the action of the prosecuting attorney one motivated by a spirit of persecution rather than legitimate prosecution."

Labor Bill Designed To Curb Abuses

WASHINGTON (AP)—Amid partisan disputes over the value of changes already made, the Senate moved on today to more controversial amendments to a bill designed to curb labor union abuses.

With a 12-hour session behind them, some senators predicted the bill could be disposed of by late tonight. Others said the debate would go into next week.

Eleven amendments were voted on yesterday in a long day and night of political jockeying. Nine were offered by Republicans.

Ten of the amendments were adopted, most of them without any dispute. Several cleaned up points in the bill objected to by the Eisenhower administration.

Republicans professed themselves well satisfied with the first day's results, contending that acceptance of the amendments showed the bill had many holes.

Democrats replied that many of the amendments were trivial, and were offered in an effort to give backing to GOP charges that the original version was soft on labor.

Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.), floor manager for the bill, opposed only one of the amendments. It was beaten 47-38, but it affected only a minor section of the bill. However, some senators thought this vote might set a pattern for defeat of the more stringent amendments to be offered later by Republicans.

Thirty-three Democrats and 14 Republicans opposed this amendment. Twenty-seven Republicans and 11 Democrats voted for it.

Kennedy himself told a reporter he was confident the Senate would reject restrictive amendments still to be considered.

Senate Republican Leader William F. Knowland (R-Calif.) said in an interview "I believe we have tightened and improved the bill" in the first day's voting.

The amendments adopted yesterday did not change the essentials of major provisions of the bill as it came to the floor. These would set up a union democracy code including secret balloting in elections and would require full public financial reporting by larger unions, union officers and employers on labor relations matters.

Kennedy said it appeared to him the Republicans were proposing the technical amendments so they could claim credit for rewriting the bill.

Knowland said that Sen. H. Alexander Smith (R-N.J.), senior Republican on the Labor Committee, has a new package of 18 administration amendments for consideration.

Knowland himself put in two amendments expected to bring major floor tests. One would require a vote of a union's members before a strike could be called; the other would permit 20 per cent of the members to force a referendum on recall of a union's officers or on changing the constitution or regulations of the union.

Delay Merger Talks; No Conclusion Reached

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Directors of the Missouri Pacific Railroad have delayed until August any action on a possible merger of MOPAC with the Texas — Pacific Railway.

Directors reached no conclusion after a day-long conference yesterday, a spokesman said. A final report on the merger is to be made by Aug. 8. The next board meeting is set for Aug. 18.

Merger of the lines would create the third largest railroad in this country with 11,900 miles of track, ranking only behind the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe and Southern Pacific Lines.

Any merger plan adopted would have to be approved by the Interstate Commerce Commission and stockholders of both railroads.

Apathy Over Polio Shots....

The other day one of the major drug companies announced it was halting the production of polio vaccine. The reason? The tremendous surplus of unused Salk shots that has piled up.

Remember how it was in the days before Dr. Jonas Salk had developed his remarkable vaccine?

When epidemics of polio struck, mothers up and down the land were frantic in pleas for help from the community. They marched on city halls. They begged for gamma globulin, the only thing then available, and not a preventive but a treatment to ease the ravaging effects of the disease.

The Salk discovery was hailed as one of the great milestones of the century in medicine. At long last, it was said, this scourge of the young was to be routed.

And so, evidently, it could be. But the parents who were so terribly alarmed over polio when protection could not be had are in many, many cases not troubled today.

Some eight million children under the age of five have had no polio shots at all. Another two million have had just one or two shots, instead of the recommended three. The eight million are just as vulnerable to this crippling ailment as if the Salk vaccine did not exist.

Altogether, some 40 per cent of the nation's youngsters in the age brackets where they are most susceptible to polio have either inadequate or no protection at all against the disease.

On top of this, there are countless millions of America adults subject to polio who have not availed themselves of the "discovery of the age." The sight of one afflicted man of 44 struggling his way aboard a bus with two canes ought to be a sobering thing for any of us.

It is really hard to find words to characterize this glaring neglect. To the talented, conscientious medical researchers who toil endless hours in quest of cures and preventatives for the major diseases which plague us, this must mean a saddening sense of futility even when they are successful.

And it makes almost a mockery of parents' hand-wringing concern for their children's health in the days before Salk. Who in the future will listen to cries for "protection" if when it is at hand it is not used?

British Prime Minister Cool To Dulles

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — After Britain's polite, professorial Prime Minister Harold MacMillan had talked at great length to President Eisenhower this week he admitted with a wry smile to friends: "We agreed on what the problems were, but I must confess we didn't know how to solve them."

Ike and Mac got along like a couple of old-school graduates at a class reunion. The British prime minister was on Eisenhower's staff during the war. But between the prime minister and Secretary of State Dulles, the atmosphere was decidedly cooler. Here are the unpublished highlights of their talks:

1. MacMillan warned that world trade, which he regards as the West's most urgent problem, must be expanded this year or the free world may lose the economic war.

2. He urged another attempt to meet the Russians at the Summit this year as evidence to the world that the Western leaders at least tried. He also criticized Dulles to his face for insisting on "massive studies" before making a diplomatic move.

3. Ike and Mac weren't enthusiastic about Premier DeGaulle, the new French strongman, but agreed to withhold their judgment until they see what he does.

4. MacMillan agreed to stop British nuclear tests if the United States would "play fair" in exchanging atomic secrets. He said the British wanted some sign from Russia that she would permit atomic inspection, and added that Britain would be satisfied with less assurance than Dulles is demanding. The prime minister declared, in effect, that his country was willing to pay a high price for a reasonable disarmament agreement.

British Rummy

But of all the issues, MacMillan used his strongest language in describing the economic crisis. He compared world trade to a game of rummy which English children play. If one player collects too many chips and doesn't put them back into the game, he said, the game cannot go on.

He claimed that the United States and West Germany were accumulating most of the chips and must put them back into circulation in the form of foreign investments. He complained that capital cannot move today except through government institutions and expressed the hope that private enterprise can be persuaded to invest in the free world's economic future.

MacMillan made it clear, however, that Britain doesn't intend to forfeit her position in the economic game. He pointed out that the British pound is stronger today than the American dollar. He also argued that Britain has the most experience and the best machinery to function as the world's banker.

While the two English-speaking leaders may have found more problems than solutions, their conference strengthened British-American relations.

Make Anthem Singable

With Flag Day, June 14, Bunker Hill Day, June 17, and the 4th of July coming up, now is really a good time for Congress to take seriously the suggestion that the Star Spangled Banner, our national anthem, be made singable.

Miss Lucy Monroe, who has probably sung "On Say can you see" more than any other singer, has admitted that it is even difficult for her and impossible for the average person to reach the high notes.

The range of the song as it is now written is an octave and a fifth, according to Sigmund Spaeth, well known musicologist.

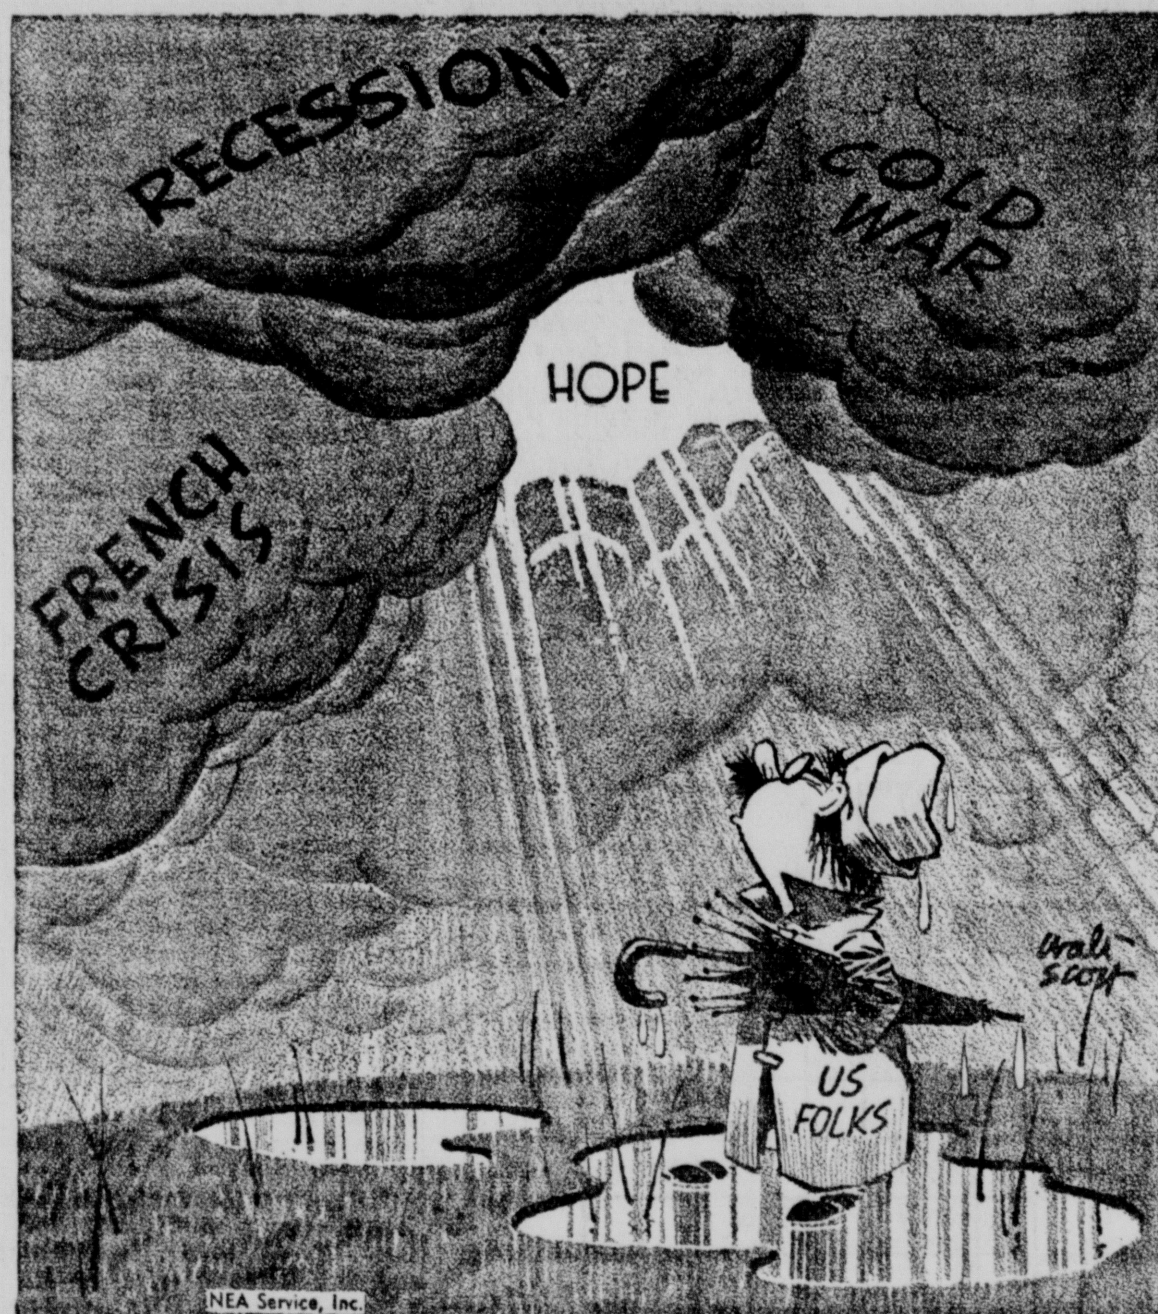

It is proposed by Cabell Phillips that the music be changed to B Flat instead of the Key of G as it is now written. This makes the song an alto part and certainly brings the music down to the level of everybody's singing range.

The words and music of the Star Spangled Banner are capable of thrilling the soul of every American, but more patriots would enjoy singing the national anthem, if it were physically possible to do so.

It would be a good idea to change the score. Too bad it requires congressional action. Not many people would know whether it was written in G or B Flat, but they certainly would enjoy it more.

Swifts are the swiftest of birds. Two species in India have been clocked at 170 to 200 miles an hour.

Reason for Delay in Freeing Americans

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP) — Release of nine Americans, taken prisoner when their Army helicopter landed in red-run East Germany, is being delayed because of this country's weird relationship with the Communist world.

It goes like this: The United States and other Western nations do not recognize the Communist government of East Germany. This country, allied with West Germany, wants German reunification under free elections.

The Western Allies argue that in accordance with the American-British-French-Russian postwar agreement on Germany, all their dealings with East Germany must be done with the Soviet Union.

When the nine Americans and their helicopter strayed into East Germany June 7 and landed there, this country, instead of appealing to the East Germans for their release, appealed to the Russians.

On June 9 the Russian Embassy in East Berlin refused to step into the case, saying the problem was under the jurisdiction of the East German government. This was one more needle to force American recognition of the German Communists.

The next day, June 10, at his news conference Secretary of State Dulles said the United States would deal with the East German Reds, if necessary, to obtain the nine men's release.

Dulles said: "When it comes to getting Americans out of a country, we don't stand on ceremony, you deal with the kidnappers."

But he added: Dealing with the East Germans in this case still wouldn't mean this country recognized the East German government.

On June 11 the East German Communists promised a quick release for the nine Americans if the United States acted in a "normal and reasonable" manner although they didn't explain what those two words meant. They'd negotiate, they said.

Thursday Lincoln White, a State Department spokesman, was asked if this country had started negotiations for the nine Americans. He said no. Why not?

The Russian refusal to step in was in a statement. It wasn't a formal note.

So, although Dulles had said this country wouldn't wait on ceremony, White said this country was waiting for a formal Russian refusal before turning directly to the East Germans.

Asked how long this country intended to wait for the formal note of Russian refusal before appealing to the East Germans, White said he didn't know but "we don't intend to wait forever."

Dealing with the East Germans, whom it doesn't recognize, will put this country in the same position in which it found itself when dealing with the Red Chinese whose government it doesn't recognize, either.

Ever since Chiang Kai-shek in 1949 was thrown off the China mainland by the Red Chinese and fled to Formosa, this country, now allied with him, has refused to recognize the Chinese Communist government on the mainland.

Nevertheless Americans fought the so-called Chinese volunteers in Korea and worked out a Korean armistice made possible only because the United States and Red China abide by it.

And, still not recognizing the Red Chinese, this government has been negotiating with them since 1955 for the release of Americans they hold as prisoners.

Overanxious Mother Pushes Shy Child Into Popularity

By Mrs. Muriel Lawrence

Mrs. C.'s 10-year-old is timid with other children. When her mother invites them over, she hangs back until they ask her to play.

Mrs. C. writes, "She is acutely conscious of a mole on her arm and says the other children dislike her because of it. A friend tells me I am too anxious to have her popular. Do you agree?"

Mrs. C., it doesn't matter a whoop whether I think you're too anxious for your daughter's popularity. What matters is that YOU think you are — or your friend's opinion wouldn't be disturbing you.

Why are you so anxious for it? Well, we usually experience great anxiety when we cannot do things we believe we ought to be able to do.

You, Mrs. C., obviously believe that you should be able to make your child the life of the party as readily as you whip up a cake mix.

The fact that popularity is not essential to her happiness has probably never occurred to you. The fact that shy people require time to develop self-assurance probably hasn't occurred to you, either.

For it's the peculiar hell of over-anxious people to ignore any facts that limit their power to pass miracles.

So when they have a shy child they can't turn into an overnight social sensation, they have tantrums. They start tormenting themselves with anxiety for their failure to do what they can't do just as a frustrated toddler will bang his head against his crib because he can't climb out of it.

Unfortunately, they will torment their shy child with the same cruel and unrealistic demands they make upon themselves.

They will push and pry at her to be properly aggressive, not because they are concerned with the child, but because her aggressiveness may produce the popularity that will enable them to tolerate themselves.

They'll invite neighbors' children over not because they enjoy having them around, but because the children's presence may pass that miracle — and the shy child will suddenly stop being shy.

It doesn't work like that. Mrs. C.'s daughter will develop self-acceptance as she sees her mother accept herself as she is — guilty and innocent, good and bad, not needing any miracles.

If she's given this example, she'll soon start liking herself as she is, including that mole, that fault, that imperfection on her arm.

Here's An Overall Guide To Social Security for Women

By FAYE HENLE

We've been asked, time and again by women, whether to claim social security benefits now reaching 62, as the law now permits, or "wait until I reach 65."

Sharpen your pencils, ladies! There are advantages and disadvantages to claiming social security at 62. You alone can decide what will suit you best. Remember, here is an instance where a lady's prerogative to change her mind is not recognized.

Read these examples carefully. They are offered to guide you.

To the unmarried woman who supports herself: If you choose to take payments before you reach 65, the amount of each monthly payment will forever be reduced.

If you elect to take your social security at 62, the reduction is 20 per cent per month of what you would have received had you waited until you were 65. If you wait until your 63rd birthday, the amount you get is 86 2/3 per cent of what you would get had you waited the extra two years. It will be 93 per cent if you wait till you reach 64.

Say your average monthly earnings amounted to $150. If claimed at 62 you would get $54.80 a month, at 63 $59.40, at 64 $64 and at 65 $68.50.

If you choose the reduced benefit, at any age between 62 and 65, you will be ahead for the first 15 years. After 15 years, the total amount you will receive will not be as large as if you had waited until age 65 for the higher benefit.

To wives of retired workers: at the age of 65 you are eligible for social security payments equaling one-half the amount to which your husband is entitled. However, if you choose to start getting payments as soon as you reach 62, the amount of your monthly payments will only be 75 per cent as much as if you had waited until you reached 65. Again, the rate you are paid is adjusted upward year by year as you approach 65.

If you claim your benefits at 62 you will be ahead for the first 12 years. After those 12 years the total amount you receive will not be as large as if you had waited until age 65.

If you become a widow: You will be eligible to receive, unreduced, three-quarters of your husband's benefits starting at 62 plus a lump sum equal to three monthly payments to your husband if he had reached 65 before he died. The intent here is to help tide you out during a period of emergency.

For a detailed explanation of social security benefits write to your nearest U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare office requesting a copy of "What Social Security Means to Women."

If you would like to know how your own social security account has built up, check by writing to the Social Security Administration, Baltimore 2, Md., giving them your social security number and enclosing either an addressed postcard letter, which you can get at your local social security office, or a self-addressed stamped envelope.

Dr. Jordan Says

Judge All Wild Mushrooms Deadly Is Only Safe Test

By Edwin P. Jordan, M. D.

"Is there a good safe way," a reader asks, "for telling whether a mushroom is edible or not?"

This is an important question, indeed. Every year a good many people pick mushrooms in the woods or fields, take them home and cook and eat them. Sometimes disastrous results occur and there are a good many deaths from mushroom poisoning.

There is no reliable test for determining whether mushrooms are edible or not. Such claims as that a mushroom is safe unless it turns silver black, fails to peel, or is found next to a rusty nail cannot be counted on.

Indeed, the popular method of testing the edibility of mushrooms by preliminary tasting is particularly dangerous. One of the most poisonous mushrooms is said to have a good flavor — but I hope never to try it.

The only safe mushrooms to eat are those which are commercially cultivated.

In the United States most cases of poisoning are caused by mushrooms of the amanita family, the best known of which is sometimes called the "death angel." The poison from the "death angel," or amanita phalloides, is technically known as a toxin.

About six to 18 hours after eating this dangerous mushroom the symptoms begin to appear.

These usually consist of nausea, vomiting, diarrhea and severe abdominal pains. There may be great thirst, inability to urinate, dizziness, jaundice after two or three days and unconsciousness.

More than half of those poisoned by the "death angel" die, generally about five to eight days after eating the mushrooms.

There is no good treatment for mushroom poisoning of this kind, although if the stomach can be washed out early, most of the toxin is removed and the chances of recovery are somewhat better.

Another type of poisonous mushroom is called amanita muscaria, or the "fly amanita." The poison of this mushroom is related to a drug commonly used in medicine called pilocarpine.

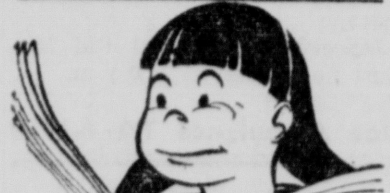

The symptoms appear early — usually within three hours after eating this mushroom. When death follows it is usually within 24 hours.

In addition to the symptoms of vomiting, diarrhea and abdominal pain, there is also sweating, watering of the eyes, narrowing of the pupils of the eyes, slow pulse and, in fatal cases, convulsions and unconsciousness.

If identified early enough this kind of mushroom poisoning can be treated with atropine. In such proper yltreated cases about nine out of ten recover.

It is surely unwise to pick mushrooms in the woods when safe ones can be bought so easily.

Matter of FACT

In 1795, the British government ordered a regular issue of lime juice to sailors in an attempt to curb scurvy. During the days of sailing ships, when a vessel might not touch port for months, the disease was common among sailors. It was not until the discovery of vitamins in the 20th century, however, that it was learned that scurvy results from the lack of Vitamin C, in which citrus fruits abound.

WALLACES' FARMER and IOWA HOME-STEAD: Tell The Truth. We just got a letter from a former Iowa farmer, now retired in California. He is very disturbed by the public's bitter attitude toward farmers. He enclosed Los Angeles newspaper clippings, showing how they foster and encourage this resentment.

This points up a situation that is growing more serious. We are not getting our side of the story to consumers. Consequently we're being blamed for everything from the recession to the high cost of living.

Insignificant short-trend news items are widely quoted. An example is the recent report that the cost-of-living reached a record high in April, largely because of higher food prices.

The National Grange dug up the facts to set the record straight. Here are some quotes from their news release.

"Official reports show that during the past 10 years, the farm value of the market basket has increased $3. Meanwhile, the consumer's price has been upped $243.

"While 'farm prices' were adding $3 to the cost of the food basket, higher labor costs added $130. Transportation costs added $33, other business expenses $69.

"Even charges added to pay higher federal income taxes increased $4 — 25 per cent more than the farm value."

The report went on to say that in 1952, when milk was supported at 90 per cent of parity, the average price was 22.8 cents per quart. Today, with supports at 75 per cent of parity, the consumer price averages 25.3 cents.

While wheat prices were dropping almost 10 per cent, bread prices increased 17 per cent. Even so, the average return for an hour of work bought more food during 1957 than ever before!

Brains Behind 'Bingo at Home' See It As Part of Viewer Participation Trend

By DICK KLEINER

NEW YORK —(NEA)— There's always a phenomenon in TV. The current one is "Bingo-At-Home," which has blossomed from an afternoon show on a local New York station to a live syndicated show, seen on 25 stations at the moment with more being added all the time.

This is the brainchild of Allen and Martin Stone, two brothers who've done some big things in (and for) television. Allen, a former greeting card entrepreneur, and Martin, a lawyer, have started such varied shows as "Howdy Doodie" and "The Author Meets the Critics." They're also old hands at merchandising products.

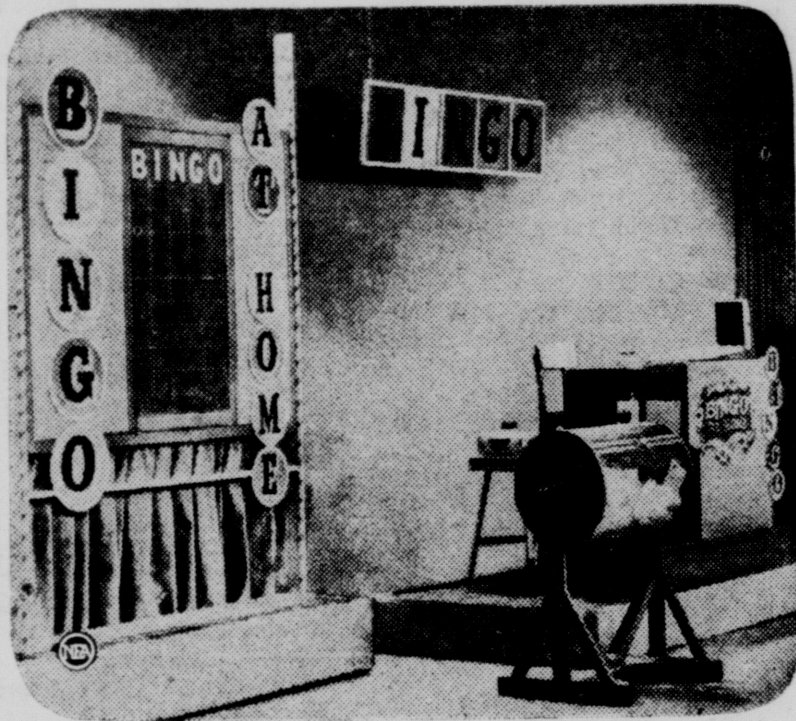

"We worked on the Bingo idea for two years," says Allen. "For a long time, we couldn't lick the legality aspect, with the FCC. It couldn't work so that people had to get something like a Bingo board in order to enter. We finally licked it with the phone number thing."

How it works is this. A listener draws himself a Bingo board, the standard affair. Above the top row he writes the five digits of his phone number. Then he goes down each row, in sequence. He may have the number 3 over the first box; then the numbers under B would be 4, 5, 6, 7 and 8.

As the numbers are drawn on the show, he checks them off. When he gets Bingo, he sends the card in and is eligible for prizes.

The Stones' company currently supplies stations, generally independents, with everything they need except a local announcer to put on a Bingo program. Even prizes are supplied. In some cities stations put on an hour a day, some even two. One Honolulu station currently plans to put on a three-hour daily Bingo show, but Stone thinks this is too much of a good thing.

Allen Stone feels that this is part of a big trend to home audience participation. Such shows as New York's "Sunrise Semester"—where viewers can take a course for credit—are extensions, he thinks, of this trend. Basically, he says, "People are tired of seeing others doing things on TV and want to do something themselves." This summer's "Musical Bingo" is another example of the trend,

"BINGO AT HOME" STUDIO KIT: Everything but a voice.

as is the Stones' own coming "Lucky Partners."

The only thing Allen Stone is unhappy about is he can't find out where the word "Bingo" comes from. Nobody, he says, knows. Any suggestions?

Nanette Fabray Jimmy Nelson

Nanette Fabray is finished with TV — until her baby is born. Her spot with Dinah Shore in May was her last appearance until the child arrives, expected to be in September.

"There are some things," says Nan, "that even a sack dress can't hide."

But she isn't just sitting around idly. She's taking courses in ceramics and jewel and metal arts. No knitting for Nan — just making ceramic pots.

A possibility for the fall schedule is Jimmy Nelson's brainchild, "Mahogany Panel." The talented young ventriloquist, with the help of a writer friend, whipped up this show idea. It's sort of a tongue-in-cheek panel show, with Jimmy sitting on the panel together with his assorted dummies — Danny O'Day, Farfel, Humphrey and a new one, a cat with the nice name of Flatateetah.

Danny O'Day would object to being called a dummy. Jimmy says Danny prefers to be called a "VA—Ventriloquist's Associate." But actually, says Jimmy, the correct name for a ventriloquist's dummy (or associate) is "figure."

The relationship between Jimmy and Danny is a complicated one. Nelson isn't one of those ventriloquists who says the "figure" has a personality of his own. But he does say that "Danny can say things I can't — he can get away with some cracks I could never say as myself."

Further, "Talking through Danny's mouth gets to be a second nature. I find myself talking to him as a person and sometimes I'm really surprised at what he says. After the show, of course, I can put him in a suitcase and forget him."

Producer Lee Cooley, of CBS-TV's new "Sing Along," is disappointed at the time the network gave to his show. It was originally planned as an hour show, for late in the evening. Cooley would even like to see it on opposite Jack Paar, for late night gang-singing-around-the-piano-people.

But CBS saw fit to slot it early — 7:30 in New York, earlier in the Midwest and West — and sliced it to 30 minutes. Cutting in half "stripped important values out of it," says Cooley, and the early hour meant a change in philosophy.

"We'll have to put some game songs on," says Lee. "It's funny, kids like 'Leave It to Beaver,' so they put that on at 8:30 here. And we go on in a time spot the kids are watching."

It's a nice show for early watching, though. It's good, easy-going summer entertainment.

Dragnet Show Is Uncertain As to Future

By JACK WEBB

NEW YORK (AP)—Seville had many barbers, but only one of them became the theme for the opera.

This is a truism which somebody uttered on Broadway a generation ago. But it's as sharp as a honed razor today and it will still fit many a situation. Including a very pressing one with me: "Dragnet." We have had many stories, themes and ideas pass across the story desk at Mark VII in the past decade. But there has been only one "Dragnet." There has been only one of every stand-out in the history of entertainment. The echoes come later.

Now people are asking if this is the moment of truth for "Dragnet." It has another—its seventh—year to play on NBC-TV. But we have filmed the last segment of our current contract. Is this the brittle, bitter end? The interminable exit? The moment of truth?

Let me confess there is much I have come to know about "Dragnet." But this one thing, where does it go from here, I do not know.

Show business can be a lonely arena for the gladiators who come to conquer. But you keep up the pace, because pace is what keeps you in there, when your legs are dragging and your arms hang limp. Pace, and the delighted thunder of the giant on the hill—the public. That keeps you in there too.

We are not alone in this one facet: there have been other children of this wondrous brain in this age of miracles, television, which have been made as welcome as "Dragnet" in the living rooms around the world. The thrill and gratitude of being part of this will never pale for me. But when I look at Joe Friday, and as he must look at me, there is a note of fatigue in the air. Joe Friday has been a good friend, and worthy. We've been inseparable for 10 years, in both radio and TV and, yes, even in motion pictures.

I don't know how Joe feels, but I'm beginning to feel the wear a little. The way we set up "Dragnet," it requires my being in touch with the production every minute. Perhaps this can be changed. Per-

For Ed, Looking Back Is Fun, But It's Also a Terrific Shock

10 Years of Sullivan's Sunday Nights

By DICK KLEINER
NEA Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK (NEA)—It was 10 years ago this month (June) that Ed Sullivan began his Sunday night series.

And now the show that originally cost a few thousand to put on is one of TV's most valuable properties. Over the years, Sullivan has introduced dozens of big stars to TV, and made a star of himself and his non-smiling Irish face. The measure of his fame is that virtually every mimic now includes an Ed Sullivan bit in his repertoire.

For Sullivan, comfortable and successful, looking back is fun. He's doing just that on his big anniversary show (June 22), using kinescopes of old films and snipping out bits and pieces to put together an hour to highlight a decade.

"I've been working on this for three months now," he says, leaning back on a big, soft couch in his Park Avenue apartment. "It's been wonderful to see some of these old shows again."

"But it's been a shock, too. A terrific shock. I watch something and it seems to me that it was only last year that we did that. Come to find out it was seven, eight years ago. Things I thought happened four, five years ago were really in the very early days."

He's been able to discern some differences between the Ed Sullivan of 1948 and the Ed Sullivan of 1958, too.

"The chief difference," he says, "is mostly one of pace. In those days, we had maybe six acts. Now we have 11 or 12. Then each of our acts would do a leisurely 10 minutes or so. Now they each do two or three minutes."

"And in those early days I talked too much. Watching these kinescopes, I look up at me talking away and I say, 'You fool! Keep quiet!' But I just kept on talking. I've learned how to keep my mouth shut."

Sullivan's show, over the years, has had its good and its bad days, which is a normal arrangement. He, himself, likes to think of some of the good that the Ed Sullivan Show has done, good that is over and beyond the call of entertainment.

"The most important thing in haps this is the time to change it.

Television is a ravenous medium. All it requires is material, creative material. It is a business which never stands still and in which no one is allowed to stand still, at the risk of his professional skin. Chancing this, we have continued to pour our energies and time into "Dragnet." Now, other things call. Right now, we have completed a pilot film on our proposed new series, "Pete Kelly's Blues," which did well in radio and motion pictures. Still other projects are ahead for Mark VII.

Of course, this doesn't necessarily foredoom "Dragnet." It is not mandatory that Joe Friday star in the series. Is any police department a "one-man proposition?"

Luckily, "Dragnet" is still showing its heels to a lot of opposition, after seven years on television. Its relationship with both the public and the advertisers who back it remains strong.

The future of "Dragnet" seems to be painted from some polychromatic pool of mystery. Because it's as much a mystery to me as to anyone. And yet, it is more. It is as the Rev. Billy Sunday observed when his mind swept back across the years to the great baseball players he knew: "... I am young in heart, for the time is measured by heartbeats, not by gray hairs and a bald spot."

I hope "Dragnet" may be measured thus.

ED SULLIVAN, 1948: The guest is Oscar Hammerstein II, who turned up on Ed's first show 10 years ago.

those 10 years," he says, "is that we've put on everything but bigotry. When the show first started, in '48, I had a meeting with the sponsors. There were some Southern dealers present and they asked if I intended to put on Negroes. I said yes. They said I shouldn't, but I convinced them I wasn't going to change my mind."

"And, you know something? We've gone over very well in the South. Never had a bit of trouble."

Sullivan likes to think of what he calls "the Josh Logan thing" as the single most important event in his program's history. They were doing a salute to the famed roadway director, and, in the wings while it was going on, Sullivan asked Logan how he thought the show was shaping up.

"'Dreadful,' Josh said. Then he explained that it was all very nice, but it had degenerated into what he said was 'another one of those and-then-I-wrote shows. I asked him what we should do about it, and he said he thought it would be a good idea if he told of his experiences in a mental institution. I said fine, and went out and introduced him right then."

Logan did talk about his mental problems, and how he'd licked them and, indeed, had gone on to win many of his greatest triumphs after his discharge. Sullivan says many wonderful, constructive advances in the treatment of mental illnesses stemmed from that telecast. It led, he says, to everything from the repeal of an old Pennsylvania law about treatment of the mentally ill to the granting of funds for building new mental institutions.

And that's why he looks with pride on the Josh Logan thing.

And, also, on his show as a whole, which has entertained millions of Americans.

He's not above admitting, too, that the Ed Sullivan Show has been good for Ed Sullivan in these last 10 years.

"I wasn't the stagestruck kind," he says. "I'd done a radio show before TV, as a means of making some extra money, that's all. You know what a newspaperman's salary is. So the show has meant comfort to me—comfort for me and my family."

"But it's meant more. It's meant excitement and fun and the chance to meet nice people. If it ever wears off, there'd be a tremendous gap in my life."

Issue Facing Broadcasters

dustry leaders, culminating in an address by the chairman of the Federal Communications Commission to the National Assn. of Broadcasters last April, has urged license holders to make increased use of the right to editorialize.

Chairman Doerfer pointedly remarked that, "having fought and won the battle for the right to editorialize, the broadcasters have failed to follow up this conquest—at least to the extent expected by the commission."

The only solid precedent we have here is that of the press. One thing the better American newspapers have shown us is that it takes an editorial staff to write editorials. This staff may be a young editor behind the roltop desk of a north Texas weekly, or it may be a dozen elder statesmen of journalism meeting around a gleaming conference table on the 30th floor of a New York skyscraper. In any event, the editorial staff worth its salt is marked by four qualities: experience, intelligence, courage and detachment.

One of the radio-TV newsmen's prime responsibilities—one which, by and large, we fulfill—is to know what we are talking about. A certified public accountant, a mechanic, a real estate broker, a Union Square haranguer for the corporate state of vegetarianism, is not qualified to express his opinion on world events over the airwaves of the United States. A Quincy Howe, an Edward R. Murrow, a Hans Kalterborn is qualified, through years of experience and study, to express such an opinion. By extension, only experienced observers of current events are qualified to form an institutional opinion—for a newspaper, or for a radio-TV station.

Carl Yessen

Yessen Appointed As First Baptist Education Leader

Carl R. Yessen, 1627 South Barrett, entered into full time Christian service March 15, and was immediately appointed educational director of the First Baptist Church.

Yessen moved to Sedalia with his parents from Monticue County when he was a year old and became active in the First Baptist Church in his intermediate years. He accepted Christ when he was 16 years of age.

As a member of the Baptist Church, he became active in Sunday School, Training Union, the Men's Brotherhood, the church choir, and as a deacon. He is well known as a church soloist and song leader throughout this area.

The new educational director formerly worked for the Midwest Auto Stores and the Missouri Pacific Railroad.

Through the Christian influence of his parents and his former pastors, the Rev. Dwight Willett, who baptized his father, C. F. Yessen, and himself at the same time, the Rev. R. W. Leazer, and Dr. T. W. Croxton, Yessen had given much thought throughout the years in going into full time Christian work. It was the Rev. J. R. Wallace, local pastor of the First Baptist Church, however, who counseled with Yessen, which finally resulted in his accepting this service. In January, the new educational director took his stand and was subsequently called by the local church.

Yessen will start working on his college degree at Central Missouri State College this fall. He will later supplement his undergraduate work with seminary training.

Yessen and his wife, Mary Ruth, have four children, Nancy, 16, Curtis, 11, Martha Jane, three, and Sarah, 18 months old.

Lutherans Planning For Convention

Representatives from 300 congregations of the Lutheran Church—Missouri Synod, located in Missouri, Arkansas, Tennessee and parts of Kentucky, will meet in St. Louis for a week-long district convention June 16-20. Representing St. Paul's Lutheran Church will be the Rev. Walter F. Strickert and Harry Tobaben.

Delegates will devote their major time to consideration of the broad program of missions, education and finances carried on jointly by the churches.

Special consideration will be given in the convention program to the topics: "An Effective Church in the Community," "Evangelism," "The Rural Church," and "Youth Work."

Convention sessions will open with a worship service in the chapel of Concordia Seminary, where the convention will meet. Dr. Arnold H. Grumm, first vice president of the synod, will preach and report regularly on the worldwide program of the synod.

Dr. Arthur W. Klink, professor at Concordia Seminary in St. Louis, will lecture daily on "Light on the Scripture from Ancient Palestinian Customs."

Primary interest is expected to center on the church's expansion plans. During the last three years the churches of the district have cooperated in raising $1,115,000 to be used as a revolving loan fund in assisting congregations to erect new churches and schools. The fund, known as God's Bank, secures interest-bearing loans from church members and makes the funds available for buying sites and erecting buildings.

President of the district is the Rev. George W. Wittmer, St. Louis.

Sedalia Travels to Mexico Tonight

A's Turn Tables On Jeff City To Gain Tie For League Lead

The Sedalia Athletics, scoring a surprisingly easy 8-2 victory, sent the highly regarded Jefferson City Redbirds back to the Capital City Thursday night in a state of shocking disbelief.

It was sweet revenge for Manager Vint Siegel's Sedalians who suffered a humiliating 24-6 shelling from the Birds at Jefferson City in the season's opener for the locals.

Tonight the A's will get a shot at first place in league standings when they cross bats with Manager Fred Jenkins' Mexico Builders at Mexico. The Builders and the A's have identical league marks. The game at Mexico is slated to get underway at 8 p.m. Starting lineups have not been announced.

The loss was only the second of the season for Jefferson City, compared with seven wins. In Missouri Valley ABC League play the Jefferson Cityans have posted three wins, but absorbed both losses against loop foes. Sedalia, now tied for the league lead with two and last one.

Burly Bill George went the route for the A's and picked up the victory. The hard throwing righthander allowed seven hits and walked six. Double plays in the first and third pulled George and the A's out of hot water, but errors in the seventh and eighth put the locals in the hole and George had to bear down to eliminate the Redbirds' threat. George struck out ten and retired the side on strike outs in the second.

The Athletics collected ten hits off Jefferson City's ace, Ross Burger. Burger walked four and whiffed seven A's.

Jefferson City grabbed a first inning lead as Augie Bergman slapped a double to right center, stole third and scored on Lon Eastham's sacrifice fly to right.

Sedalia rebounded in the bottom of the first to knot the count. Bill Dey, the leadoff man for the A's, drew a pass and then went to third when Burger threw wild when attempting a pick-off. Dey scored on Fall's line double to left-center.

After the first two innings both pitchers dominated activity with a nifty duel, but the A's exploded for three runs in the bottom of the sixth to break the deadlock. Burgoyne got the winning rally started by drawing a walk. Fall singled, sending Burgoyne to third. Burgoyne then scored on Herb Ford's sacrifice fly to medium left. Jim "Salty" Schumaker kept the rally going with a single to left. Elroy Burton, who replaced injured John "Bull" Higgins, drew a pass to load the bases.

Bill Morgan then got the key hit of the frame, a shot to right which scored Schumaker and Fall. The A's scored two more in the seventh with Burgoyne and Ford getting the pay-off hits. In the eighth the locals wound up their scoring with two more tallies coming on doubles by Elroy Burton, Bill George and Bill Dey.

Jim Fall, with two safeties, was the only Sedalia hitter to get more than one base knock in a well balanced attack. Bergman and Alberts each gathered two hits for the losers.

The Athletics' next home game will be a week from tonight when the Columbia VFW Club, defending Missouri semi-pro champions, come to town. An unusually small crowd was on hand for Thursday night's game and the A's are hoping for a better turnout at their next home game.

Anthony Takes Victory Over Orville Pitts

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Second-ranked light heavyweight Tony Anthony took a bit of pounding in the first three rounds from Orville Pitts, but when he started swinging, he stopped the former college boxer in the fifth round after decking him four times.

Anthony, of New York City, weighed 176 pounds and Pitts, a Milwaukeean, 174½ for their scheduled 10 rounder Thursday night.

The 23-year-old Anthony claimed his 33rd victory in 39 starts.

Andersons Win; Keep Lead in Babe Ruth

Andersons defeated Browns Wednesday night 16-4 to retain the lead in the local Babe Ruth League. In a second game, Phillips 66 defeated McCowns with a 3-1 score.

Shelley, winning pitcher in the Anderson-Brown game, allowed only three. Johnson, the losing pitcher, added up a score of three hits, four walks and struck out 11.

In the Phillips 66-McCown game, Walker was the winning pitcher. He allowed six hits, walked three and struck out seven. The loser, Smith, allowed two hits, walked seven and struck out five. Both were five-inning games.

Monday night ADCO meets Brown, and Western Auto meets McCown at 6 and 8 p.m.

Anderson leads the league with 4-0, Phillips 66, 3-1; McCown, 2-2; ADCO, 2-2; Brown, 1-3 and Western Auto 0-4.

Sportsmanship Makes Non-Pro Ball Too Tame

WICHITA, Kan. (AP) — Stress on sportsmanship has made recent national non-pro baseball tournaments too tame for Gus Fan, says Ray Dumont.

The president of the National Baseball Congress said today it's going to award trophies for team and individual player aggressiveness in this year's national meet in August.

"All the team managers and players now strive to win those sportsmanship awards, since we've been stressing them in recent years," he explained.

"Seldom does a player even raise a meek protest on a controversial decision. The games have become too tame for the fans."

Incidentally, adds Dumont—who thinks fans like more fire on the diamond—the aggressiveness trophies will be twice as big as the ones still to be awarded for sportsmanship.

Chiefs Defeat Sweet Springs By 10-8 Score

Last night the Sedalia Chiefs made a successful trip to Sweet Springs by notching their fifth victory of the year by a score of 10-8. The Chiefs retained third place in the Western Division with this win. With only one loss on the record, they are keeping alive their hopes to catch the league leaders, Holden and Tipton.

The locals built an early lead of 10-1, and appeared to have a clear sailing to victory number five. With this substantial lead Manager Billy Arnold cleared his bench in the seventh in order to keep the score down and give everyone a chance to play. It was after this move that Sweet Springs scored their other runs.

Behind the booming bat of Marvin Droege, the Chiefs wasted no time in disposing of Sweet Springs starter Dan Widder. Droege gave his pitcher three runs to work on when, in the first inning, he unloaded a home run with Dale Miller and Larry Mines on base. The Chiefs picked up four more runs in the next four innings. Included in these was Jimmy Swafford's first four-sacker of the year. In the seventh Droege banged out another homer.

The Sedalians fielded an entirely new team, with the exception of pitcher Bill Mateja, in the last of the seventh. Sweet Springs responded to this move with a three run rally in that inning and a four run outburst in the eighth.

Two walks, a wild pitch and a single brought across two runs in the seventh. An error accounted for the third run. In the eighth three straight errors, a walk and a double netted Sweet Springs a total of only two short of the Chiefs, and put the tying runs on second and third. Manager Arnold then called on hurler Clyde Kubli to put out the fire, which he did successfully.

Mateja started for the Chiefs and pitched creditable ball until the seventh and eighth innings. He allowed four hits, struck out seven and walked seven. Only three of the eight runs scored against him were earned. When Kubli relieved him in the eighth with two men out he retired the next four batters in a row to preserve the victory for Mateja.

Tonight the Chiefs journey to Tipton for one of the most important contests of the year. All players are asked to meet at the Ralph Hamlin Service Station at 5:45.

Kubli is Sedalia's probable starter. Although he relieved for one and one-third innings last night, manager Arnold feels that this will not hinder his effectiveness tonight.

Unusual Tag Team Matches Here Tuesday

Tag team matches have a lot to offer in the way of thrills and excitement, and for downright action, there is nothing to compare with two evenly matched teams once the starting bell sounds.

On Tuesday night, June 17, the army will be the scene of the unusual, as well as the sensational, when a mixed tag match is scheduled for the main event on all star wrestling card.

In a two out of three fall match Otto von Krupp, the strutting German Oak, has joined forces with Penny Banner to oppose Flying Joe Scarpa and pretty Judy Glover. Both Scarpa and von Krupp have tangled before in team matches, but this is the first time either will have to depend upon one of the fairer sex for assistance, should the going get rough.

Penny Banner has been seen in some matches here, since she is the partner of Lorraine Johnson, and the two hold the women's world title as a team. In Judy Glover, Flying Joe Scarpa will have a partner who has for years held the Southern Women's title and a girl who comes highly rated for her first trip into the Midwest.

Once the action gets started in this one hour match, anything can happen and probably will.

Two single matches will complete the card and Thor Hagen will meet Red McIntyre in the semi-final event for two out of three falls, under the 45 minute time limit. McIntyre has just returned from a tour of Oklahoma and Texas, and has adopted the Texas style wrestling. Thor Hagen has always been a popular boy in this part of the country, and has an enviable record of wins against some of the best wrestlers in the sport.

Mexican Champion Laura Martinez will oppose Kathy Starr on the opener in a one fall match with a 30 minute time limit. Both Starr and Martinez have appeared in Sedalia before and both are highly rated in Women's ranks in wrestling.

By ED WILKS
The Associated Press

The day after Christmas 1953 the Pittsburgh Pirates traded second baseman Danny O'Connell to Milwaukee for three guys named Max, Sid and Sam, three kid pitchers and $75,000.

One of the pitchers was termed a sleeper by the Bucs, who brought him along in the minors. Yesterday, big right-hander Curt Raydon threw an eye-opening two-hitter for his first victory and complete game in the majors, a 2-1 job over San Francisco that gave the Pirates a three-game sweep.

By losing their fifth in a row the second place Giants tumbled 1½ games behind the Milwaukee Braves, who beat the Chicago Cubs 5-4. Cincinnati defeated St. Louis 5-0 on Brooks Lawrence's six-hit pitching. Philadelphia beat Los Angeles 4-3.

In the American League, the first place New York Yankees split a day-night pair with Kansas City, winning 3-2 in 12 innings after a 4-1 defeat, and dumped the A's to third. Boston took over second place, nine games behind, by beating Detroit 4-2. Baltimore defeated Cleveland 7-5 and Washington nipped the Chicago White Sox 6-5.

Raydon, 24, who lost his first two decisions in the majors, walked six and struck out five, giving up singles to Daryl Spencer and Orlando Cepeda. The Giants scored in the fourth on Cepeda's infield hit, two walks and a wild pitch. The Pirates, getting only four hits with both runs unearned, scored the clincher in the sixth when rookie Paul Giel (0-1) forced a run home by walking Roberto Clemente on four pitches—after a hit-batsman, a walk and error had filled the bases.

That 1953 deal, incidentally, gave the Pirates Max Surkont, Sid Gordon, Sam Iethroe, Larry Lasalle and Fred Waters in addition to Raydon. O'Connell, now is with the Giants, but sidelined by injury at the moment.

It was Murry's longest job since Sept. 26, 1956, when he was a sprout of 40 with the Cards. He went 12 2-3 innings that time against the Cubs — and lost by the same score, 3-2.

Duren, warned by plate umpire Joe Paparella to wipe the sweat from his hands after sending two batters to the dirt, gained a 3-1 record after relieving Ford with two on, one out in the 11th. He fanned four of the five he faced, striking out the side in the 12th. The rookie right-hander has whiffed 40 in 25 2-3 innings.

er in the eighth inning. Bob Cerv hit his 16th homer for the A's, winning their first at Yankee Stadium in 18 tries since July 22, 1956. Tom Sturdivant (1-4) was the loser, giving up a two-run, second-inning double to Billy Hunter — who was traded to Cleveland for Chico Carrasquel after the game.

Dave Sisler, 4-0 lifetime vs. Detroit, won his sixth with relief help after singling home the clincher in the fourth against Paul Foytack (5-6). Jackie Jensen hit his 15th homer for the Sox.

Gus Triandos and Jim Marshall hit two-run homers for the Orioles, who blew a 4-1 lead, then won with Marshall's single driving home the winner in a three-run fifth against losing reliever Don Mossi (4-6).

Neil Chrisley's third hit, a triple, and second RBI bagged it for Washington in the eighth against losing reliever Early Wynn (5-5). Al Smith counted three runs with two homers for the last place White Sox. Dick Hyde won it in relief.

Harold Carter Meets German Fighter Tonight

NEW YORK (AP) — For 18 months, Harold Carter has been soaking up Nietzsche, Schopenhauer and Voltaire. Tonight at Madison Square Garden he samples a little Besmanoff.

Besmanoff comes under the heading of "required work" for Carter, who once was a ranking heavyweight contender. Nietzsche and his stable were road work for the mind.

Willi Besmanoff is a German strongboy. A stocky 5-9½, Willi came to this country just about the time Carter disappeared into the Army in early 1957. Ring magazine now lists the Teuton No. 9 among the challengers of Floyd Patterson.

Carter, 24, hasn't fought since Jan. 11, 1957 when he took a unanimous decision over Bob Baker. Now he is back from the Army anxious to start climbing.

The deep thinker from Linden, N. J., turned up Tuesday at the Garden for a press luncheon, carrying a volume of Arabic poetry by Khalil Gibran. Immediately, he started quoting long passages. He also explained that he is a Sunday School teacher and a "seeker of silences."

Before his career took such a bookish turn, Carter was a pretty fair right-hand puncher. He may still be. Besmanoff should be an adequate test in their 10-round match. Carter is a heavy favorite.

Carter has a 22-2-2 record. Tonight's match will be carried on network (NBC) radio and television, starting at 9 p.m. (est).

Sunday School Lesson Notes:

By WILLIAM E. GILROY, D.D.

The Bible, which is an amazing book of humanity as well as a book of divine guidance, somewhere in its many books portrays almost every sort of character and action, and not least in interest are the women of the Bible.

The notion that "woman" in itself stands for goodness and greatness is dispelled by women such as Jezebel. But on the other hand, the position of women in the Bible stands out with strength and beauty all the more effulgent against the background of women's inferior position in much of the ancient world and in much of our own.

The Bible is remarkable for its love stories. The conception of woman as the object of love and devotion shines out in the story of Jacob and his serving seven years for Rachel, as well as in many other parts of the Old Testament. In the long and troubled history of the Jewish race the quality and sacredness of family life has been outstanding.

The greatness of individual women is strongly emphasized. Above all, of course, is Mary, the Mother of Jesus.

But noble types are in the Old Testament, too. Hannah, the mother of Samuel, is the noble mother in the background of a great son, and the women in the Book of Ruth are examples of womanhood at its best.

To me, a fascinating character has always been Deborah, the woman judge, and in all history I think there have been few, if any, greater examples of a woman achieving distinguished leadership by sheer force of character. Her distinction was all the more remarkable considering the times, which were of unsettlement, evil, violence, and peril.

The story of Deborah begins in Judges 4:4, and the chapter immediately preceding tells of Ehud's foul murder of Eglon, King of Moab. It is a terrible story, and one turns gladly to Deborah.

There was no court or settled government, but to "the palm tree of Deborah" people came for judgment, and apparently found satisfaction in her decisions.

Deborah, moreover, was more than a judge. Her courage and morale were the strength of the times.

Barak, who ought to have been the military leader, wouldn't go to fight unless Deborah went with him (Judges 4:8). What a woman!

Lutheran Ladies Hold Regular Monthly Meet

St. Paul's Lutheran Ladies Aid met for its monthly meeting June 5 in the church basement.

The group singing of "Jesus Lead Thou On" and "Am I A Soldier of the Cross" was followed by the scripture reading and prayer.

The June topic discussion "Esther, the queen who prayed and performed" was led by the Rev. Walter Strickert.

Mrs. Al Schreiner, president, presided over the business meeting. Due to the illness of the secretary, Mrs. W. F. Strickert was appointed temporary secretary.

Mrs. E. Kasak, Mrs. W. Raabe and Mrs. Mary Mueller volunteered to sew on the Red Cross project at the Whiteman Air Force Base on June 11th, and Mrs. E. Schlichting, Mrs. Al Schreiner and Mrs. W. Strickert agreed to sew on June 25th.

Mrs. Al Schreiner, delegate to the district convention of the Lutheran Women's Missionary League which was held at Chattanooga, Tenn., on May 1st and 2nd, took the group on a most interesting and inspiring word tour of the convention.

The June theme of red roses was cleverly carried out by the hostesses, Mrs. L. Miller and Mrs. F. Wagner. A dessert luncheon was served at which time the Rev. Walter Strickert was presented a beautiful cake as the group sang "Happy Birthday."

"FRIENDLY ENEMY"—A technician checks over a Kingfisher supersonic guided missile. The Army has awarded the Lockheed Missile Systems division a 7½ million dollar contract to build the missiles. The Kingfisher is used to simulate an enemy air attacker and tests the accuracy and destructive power of the nation's interceptor missiles. Equipped with a firing error indicator, it is able to record theoretical hits and near misses without itself being destroyed. Another feature is that it is recoverable by means of parachutes and nose spike so that it can be flown repeatedly. The target missile is capable of traveling at more than twice the speed of sound. BOGATA, Tex. (AP)—Age means nothing to the Davis brothers, who cranked up their motorcycle and had a joyride through this north Texas town.

Charlie Davis is 73. Albert Davis of Deport is 82. Their motorcycle, with sidecar, is 42 years old.

Charlie was a motorcycle racer and was a racing promoter from 1912 to 1917 at Iowa Park. He has kept his 1916 vehicle in perfect repair since he moved to Bogata 20 years ago.

WARNING!

Signatures are being solicited in this community for a petition to place a limited branch banking proposal on the ballot in the November election.

In the opinion of your hometown banks, and of the vast majority of the members of the Missouri Bankers Association, this proposition is vicious in the extreme. It can only lead to eventual extinction of local independent banks, and the control of all money and credit by huge syndicates in distant cities.

We strongly urge our friends and customers to refuse to sign these petitions, or if they have already done so, to seek to have their names removed. The public interest demands the defeat of this attempt by a small selfish group to legalize branch, or chain, banking in Missouri.
